

Volunteer Strategy

Issued January 2014

RE MLA Volunteer Strategy

1. This Strategy outlines the ethos and commitments which inform the RE MLA's recruitment, management and development of its volunteer workforce. It should be read in conjunction with the REMLA's Volunteer Policy.
2. The REMLA is committed to the development of its volunteer programming for the following reasons:
 - Provision of opportunities for individuals to participate in the work of the Museum, increasing profile and relevance of the REMLA in its local community.
 - Development of individual's skills and knowledge of the history of the Royal Engineers and the work of the Museum supporting the REMLA's achievement of its charitable objects.
 - Enhancement of REMLA workforce ensuring that a diversity of experience and communities contributing to the success of the REMLA.
3. The REMLA will continue to invest in volunteer management. It is committed to ensuring that its volunteer programme continues to offer opportunities for individual volunteer development and involvement with a structured and well managed framework which recognises the commitments made by volunteers.
4. The REMLA is committed to increasing its volunteer programme in order to provide more participatory opportunities as well as supporting an increase in REMLA services and programming
5. The REMLA will continue to ensure that there is a sustainable opportunity for volunteer engagement.